COACH'S NOTES

Why this lineup

STRATEGY

Top of the order is built purely on OBP — Casey Klimek (.800) and Dustin Klimek (.791) are the two best on-base bats and neither has struck out all season — feeding the two biggest slugging profiles, Owen Vahey (1.436 SLG) and Hunter Johnson (2.245 OPS, 1.500 SLG) in the 3-4 spots. Trevor Millen's .810 OBP would normally lead off, but the coach's standing instruction puts him in the middle third, so he anchors slot 5 as the highest middle slot available; Stephen Perry's instruction to bat at the bottom lands him at 9, the top of the bottom third, despite a 1.247 OPS that outranks the two hitters behind him. Slots 7-11 run in descending OPS order with Daniel Jacob placed neutrally at 8 because 11 PA is far too small a sample to judge him on.
